Fulbright Facing Challenge

OUR 57TH YEAR

LITTLE ROCK, Ark., (AP) Sen. J. W. Fulbright, Democratic chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, is running one of the hardest races of his career against a Republican farmer-businessman seeking his first statewide office.

The campaign has pushed beyond Arkansas' borders, enlisting contributors for both sides from throughout the Headquarters for Charles T. Bernard, the GOP candidate, has mailed thousands of letters scoring Fulbright's foreign policy record and asking for contributions. But Bernard denies reports that he is receiving the aid of large conservative organizations.

Bernard's letter says liberal groups are "pouring thousands of dollars into the effort to save Fulbright," who is seeking his fourth Senate term.

Hoyt Purvis, Fulbright's press aide, denies that, but says "one or two" national organizations probably have encouraged their members to contribute to the

In addition, letters bearing the name of Poet Archibald MacLeish urging contributions for Fulbright have been mailed from Washington.

"With George Wallace and Richard Nixon dominating the and with his Republican the full financial resources of the right wing across the nation,

Increase in U.S. OutputPredicted

Leslie V. Johnson

HOT SPRINGS, Va. (AP) A panel of industry economists rs. Joyce Murphy, 58, 716 predicts an increase of some $60 billion in national output next year, nearly matching 1968's giant strides despite the tax increase.

The forecast was prepared for the fall meeting of the Business Council, blue-ribbon organization of industry executives, by its advisory team of some 20 professional economists.

The growth estimate would lift the Gross National Product to a total of about $915 billion.

Sources said the forecast sees continued price inflation. Thus far in 1968 price increases have accounted for about half the GNP increases, which amounted to $21.2 billion in the first quarter, $21.7 billion in the second, and $17.9 billion in the

Increase in U.S. OutputPredicted HOT SPRINGS, Va. (AP) A panel of industry economists predicts an increase of some $60 billion in national output next year, nearly matching 1968's giant

The forecast was prepared for the fall meeting of the Business Council, blue-ribbon organization of industry executives, by its advisory team of some 20 professional economists.

The growth estimate would lift the Gross National Product to a total of about $915 billion. Sources said the forecast sees continued price inflation. Thus far in 1968 price increases have accounted for about half the GNP increases, which amounted to $21.2 billion in the first quarter, $21.7 billion in the second, and $17.9 billion in the

POLITICAL STRAWS IN THE WIND

In case anyone has any doubt about the strength of George C. Wallace of Alabama in the Bootheel or the Mid-South, let them ponder these two separate but conclusive weekend incidents.

A Daily Democrat staff member, attending the opening night of the Mid-South Fair and the rodeo, reports the crowd was asked its preference for President. The name of Hubert Humphrey produced light applause and many boo's, the name of Richard Nixon produced a smattering of applause, and the name of George Wallace nearly lifted the rafters from the coliseum.

Another Daily Democratic staff member decided to count Wallace bumper stickers on a short trip from Caruthersville to Kennett, a distance of some 28 miles. Leaving a spot on Ward Avenue, the staff member traveled through Hayti to Kennett and counted 66 Wallace-for- President bumper stickers. Fifteen were counted before the newsman could get outside the city limits of Caruthersville. There were no Nixon-Agnew

Council Joins New Region 5

The Cotton Boll Girl Scout Council, Oct. 1, became part of a new Girl Scout region. The office is located in Kansas City.

The old Region V is made up 85 councils in Arkansas, Colorado, Iowa, Kansas, Missouri, Nebraska, New Mexico, Oklahoma, Texas, Wyoming, and part of Arizona, Illinois, South Dakota and Utah. Mrs. Wilson T. Cann of Houston, is regional chairman, and the regional director is Miss Ruth Wisdom. Membership is 539,219 girls and adults.

The new region is a amalgamation of the old region VIII, known as the 'Covered Wagon' region, and the old Region IX the 'Cactus' region, and the addition of Arkansas, formerly in the 'Dixie' Region. It is the result of a reorganization of the Girl Scouts into six regional branch offices from 12 offices.

BRUCE BIOSSAT

Fortas Lost, LBJ Should Try Again on Court Chief

> By BRUCE BIOSSAT NEA Washington Correspondent

WASHINGTON (NEA) Deprived of a victory he did not deserve in the fight to gain

Senate confirmation of Justice Abe Fortas as chief justice, President Johnson may give his adversaries victory they do not deserve if he fails to name another.

There simply was no glory for anyone in the handling of the Fortas case and nothing that has been said or done since the withdrawal of his name suggests any improvement.

If Chief Justice Earl Warren's letter of resignation is still operative (and there is no reason to believe it is not), then the President has the proper duty and responsibility to name Donna M. Hodges another successor promptly.

Much is currently being made of the fact that Warren's letter did not fix a specific resignation date but made his retirement effective as of the date his successor is confirmed. But anyone who attended Warren's rare early summer press conference, as this reporter did, could have no doubt Dismissed by the State at the that he thought that a successor would take over this October. In this congenitally suspicious town, it was perhaps inevitable that Warren's timing should have been looked upon by James Robert Gadbury some politicians and observers as a move to deprive Richard Nixon, if he is elected Nov. 5, of a chance to name a successor chief justice. During his decade as governor of California, Warren found his relations with fellow Californian Nixon severely strained.

This reporter knew Warren well in his years as governor. Written plea of guilty filed and punishment fixed at a fine He was consistently honest and candid in deed and word. Despite his differences with Nixon, there seems utterly no reason to doubt his sincerity when he told newsmen this summer Mary Alma Krieger Hitt he thought it sensible and logical to retire at the end rather the weekend with Mr. and Mrs. CARELESS AND RECKLESS than in the middle of a court term.

The argument that Warren should have waited until a new, Defendant enters plea of not presumably Republican, president took office, has no merit as tested against history and the president's constitutional powers. A chief justice has no obligation to try to anticipate the election returns, and a president's duties do not end seven months before he leaves office.

But if there was no reasonableness in that argument, neither was there good sense in the conservative assault on Gene Yokley, waives preliminary hearing and is bound over to the court which used Fortas as a ready target. Like any huclub will meet at the community Circuit Court. Bond is set at sum man agency, the Supreme Court and its members have shortof $500.00 for his appearance. comings which should be criticized. But a general partisan attack seriously degrades it.

All these elements would not have come together to produce Tommie Lee Thompson BURGLARY AND STEALING an almost unprecedented rejection had not the President and The State files application Fortas themselves been guilty of bad judgment

A president need not name only total strangers to high post. But he should have foreseen the peril in the "cronyism" charge. Maj. Gen. Keith L. Ware Killed In Helicopter Crash in Vietnam

Not unlike many of the men who served under him in Vietnam, Maj. Gen. Keith L. Ware was a draftee. Five months before the United States entered World War II, General Ware began basic combat training at Camp Roberts, Calif. By the end of the war, he was a lieutenant colonel who had served as a battalion commanger and regimental executive officer with the 3d Infantry Division in

During the war he displayed two qualities he continued to possess throughout a distinguished career of military service. He was a soldier. He was a leader.

On Dec. 26, 1944, he proved he was both. As a lieutenant colonel, he was commanding the 1st Battalion, 15th Infantry, 3d Infantry Division, during an attack on a strongly held enemy position near Sigolsheim, France. When one of his assault companies was pinned down, he grabbed an automatic rifle and boldly led a small attacking element that knocked out enemy machine gun positions and disrupted the enemy's defense. For his action, he was awarded the Medal of Honor. After the war, he continued on active duty, establishing a military record in the highest tradition of a soldier's devotion to his country. As an Army leader, he was the standard-bearer for the nation's finest men. In Vietnam, more than 20 years after he received the nation's highest combat award, Keith L. Ware was again fighting the enemy - this time as commanding general of the 1st Infantry Division.

Once again he was leading in combat - close to his men, where it counted. He was killed when his helicopter crashed. General Ware, who was born in Denver, Colo., Nov. 23, 1915, attended Infantry Officer Candidate School at Fort Benning, Ga., and was commissioned a second lieutenant on July 18, 1942. THE IMPOSSIBLE VICTORY—The National Right to Work Committee is a coalition of employers and employees organized in 1955 with a single purpose: protecting the right of individual workers to join or not to join a union without losing their jobs. One measure of the effectiveness of the National Committee's continuing education program can be seen in an analysis of the campaign to turn back the 1965-1966 effort to repeal Section 14(b) of the Taft-Hartley Act. The National Committee received principal credit for the success and was honored by the Public Relations Society of America with a Silver Anvil Award. The story of this campaign is told by Lee Edwards in a chapter entitled "The 'Impossible' Victory" in his new book, YOU CAN MAKE THE DIFFERENCE, published by Arlington House. Write us for a complimentary copy of "The 'Impossible' Victory" and a list of other Right to Work educational materials.

NATIONAL RIGHT TO WORK COMMITTEE

The first in a series of reports to businessmen on the meaning and importance of Right to Work laws outlawing compulsory union membership

Generally overlooked in the melee of "Chicago 1968" was the adoption by the Democratic Party of a platform again endorsing the repeal of Section 14(b) of the Taft-Hartley Act, an action which would legalize compulsory unionism in all 50 states.

This open appeal to a small group of politically powerful union officers stands in direct contrast with the Republican Party platform which contained a strong pledge for "vigorous enforcement of present laws including Taft-Hartley" and advocacy of a Right to Work law for Federal

GOP POSITION

The basic position of the GOP and their candidate, Richard M. Nixon, is for the protection of individual liberty and the basic rights of workers." This approach strikes tear in the hearts of organized labor's national leadership but offers hope to millions of ordinary Americans.

For the business executive this support for basic individual rights offers many pluses. To start with, he knows that Right to Work laws reduce industrial strife—the evidence is overwhelming that compulsory union membership and union irresponsibility go hand in hand. George Meany himself confirmed this when he told a Congressional Committee in 1965, Disputes over union security have been a frequent cause of industrial strife.

And employer experience shows that contrary to union promises of industrial peace through compulsory unionism, exactly the opposite is true. In the first three years after General Motors bowed to United Auto Worker demands for the compulsory union shop in 1955, labor friction skyrocketed. Company paid time for union business more than doubled while the number of union grievances jumped 100 per cent. Time lost due to strikes during the contract period mushroomed from 170,000 man hours in the preceding seven years to more than seven million man hours lost during the three years following the compulsory unionism agreement

Maj. Gen. Keith L. Ware Killed In Helicopter Crash in Vietnam

Not unlike many of the men who served under him in Vietnam, Maj. Gen. Keith L. Ware was a draftee.

Five months before the United States entered World War II, General Ware began basic combat training at Camp Roberts, Calif. By the end of the war, he was a lieutenant colonel who had served as a battalion commander and regimental executive officer with the 3d Infantry Division in Europe.

During the war he displayed two qualities he continued to possess throughout a distinguished career of military service. He was a soldier. He was a leader.

On Dec. 26, 1944, he proved he was both. As a lieutenant colonel, he was commanding the 1st Battalion, 15th Infantry, 3d Infantry Division, during an attack on a strongly held enemy position near Sigolsheim, France. When one of his assault companies was pinned down, he grabbed an automatic rifle and boldly led a small attacking element that knocked out enemy machine gun positions and disrupted the enemy's defense.

For his action, he was awarded the Medal of Honor. After the war, he continued on active duty, establishing a military record in the highest tradition of a soldier's devotion to his country. As an Army leader, he was the standard-bearer for the nation's finest men.

In Vietnam, more than 20 years after he received the nation's highest combat award, Keith L. Ware was again fighting the enemy - this time as commanding general of the 1st Infantry Division.

Once again he was leading in combat - close to his men, where it counted. He was killed when his helicopter crashed. General Ware, who was born in Denver, Colo., Nov. 23, 1915, attended Infantry Officer Candidate School at Fort Benning, Ga., and was commissioned a second lieutenant on July 18, 1942. A few months later he participated in the North African invasion force landings in French Morocco. In January 1944, he landed at Anzio Beachhead, and, after the breakout from the beachhead, he was a member of the forces liberating Rome.

After the war, he served six months with the occupation forces in Germany, then returned to the United States to attend the Command and General Staff College at Fort Leavenworth, Kan. He later attended George Washington University in preparation for assignment to the U.S. Military Academy, where he served as an instructor in military psychology and leadership and as executive officer of the Corps of Cadets.

He attended the Armed Forces Staff College at Norfolk, Va., before taking command of the 34th Infantry Regiment in Korea in March 1955. While in Korea, he became deputy assistant chief of staff G-3, plans, for the Allied Forces Far East and the Eighth Army.

He returned to the United States to become a student at the National War College in Washington, D.C. As a colonel, he served in Washington with the Office, Chief of Legislative Liaison from June 1957 to July 1960.

He was promoted to brigadier general on May 1, 1963, while assistant division commander of the 2d Armored Division, Fort Hood, Tex.

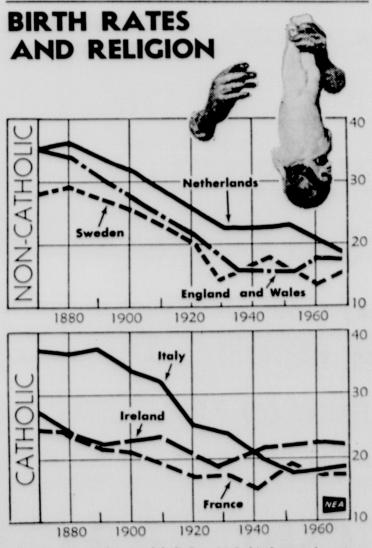

He became the deputy chief of information for the Department of the Army in September 1964 and served as chief of information from February 1966 to November 1967.

Late in 1967, General Ware arrived in Vietnam, where he became deputy commander of I Field Force. In January 1968 he became deputy commander of II Field Force and, during the communist Tet offensive, he commanded a task force in defense of Saigon.

He became commander of the 1st Infantry Division in

Lawyer Calling Client Liar Ruled Okay

By Jack Strauss, LL.B. Benny had a criminal record that stretched almost as long as Mrs. Charlie Anderson Benny nad a criminal feeded that day in a police station, he U.S. Highway No. 1. Appearing one day in a police station, he admitted to still another crime and signed a written confession. And, while he was fixed upon pleading guilty, Lawyer Jones, his court appointed attorney, doggedly refused to let him do it. In court, Lawyer Jones was wary of the effect of the confession. To off-set it, he pointed out Benny's long criminal Mr. and Mrs. Finis Graham record and insisted that a man with that kind of record couldn't be believed and, therefore, neither could his confession. That if the confession was false, he argued, Benny was necessarily innocent. After being convicted and sent to the pokey, Benny underwent Sikeston are parents of a son a change of heart. He claimed he had not been properly Appearing one day in a police station, he admitted to still another crime and signed a written confession. And, while he was fixed upon pleading guilty, Lawyer Jones, his court appointed attorney, doggedly refused to let him do it.

In court, Lawyer Jones was wary of the effect of the confession. To off-set it, he pointed out Benny's long criminal record and insisted that a man with that kind of record couldn't be believed and, therefore, neither could his confession. That if the confession was false, he argued, Benny was necessarily innocent.

After being convicted and sent to the pokey, Benny underwent a change of heart. He claimed he had not been properly represented by an attorney and demanded a new trial to prove his trial because Lawyer Jones called Benny a lair?

This is how the judge ruled: NO! The judge held that while a casual observer might have gasped at Lawyer Jones' handling of the case, his statements, in retrospect, were not so unthinkable. Confronted by an open and shut case against his client evidence and confession-wise he attempted a strategy that he hoped might create doubt in the mind of at least one juror and thereby gave his client a chance of acquittal. Less plausible stratagy has worked. Had he succeeded, Lawyer Jones would have been considered a genius. Because he failed did not make him incompetent.

BURLISON

Democrat for Congress Places Emphasis on Jobs and Industrial Development!

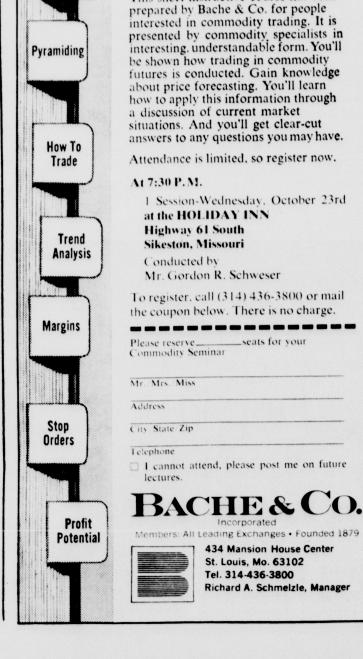

Bill Burlison is gravely concerned about the exodus of our people from the 10th District. For the 10 years covered by our last census, we lost 8.7% of our people while the state of Missouri gained 9.2% and the nation 18.5%.

Bill Burlison favors invalidation of the recent Internal Revenue Service ruling which stopped income tax exemption for earnings on municipal industrial development bonds. Bill also will work hard for legislation to grant tax incentives for location of industry in rural areas of declining population.

Bill Burlison will work toward rapid development of the massive iron and lead concentrations of the Southeast Missouri "lead belt." Reynolds and Iron Counties alone have had a recent investment of $122,000,000.00 and additional employment of 1,200 workers. Bill knows this is just the beginning for a mining industry that will rapidly become the number one industry of the 10th District. Bill has promised to become an expert in mining legislation in order to best serve this vital interest.
